Amazon Data Entry Jobs from home – No Experience Needed

Description

About Amazon

Amazon is a company of builders. We are a global technology leader dedicated to being Earth's most customer-centric company. Our Data Operations team is the backbone of this mission, ensuring that the information powering our marketplaces and AI technologies is accurate, secure, and reliable.

The Role

We are seeking motivated, detail-oriented individuals to join our team as Remote Data Associates. In this role, you will be responsible for the validation and maintenance of high-volume data sets. This is an entry-level position that offers a flexible schedule and a fully remote work environment. No prior experience is required—we provide comprehensive, paid training to ensure you have the tools to succeed.

Key Responsibilities

- Data Integrity: Accurately input, update, and audit data within Amazon's internal databases to maintain high-quality records.
- Quality Assurance: Perform routine checks to identify and correct discrepancies, ensuring all data meets strict quality standards.
- Information Security: Handle sensitive and confidential data with the highest level of discretion and security.
- Communication: Collaborate with team leads and peers via Slack and email to resolve workflow blockers.
- Ownership: Take initiative to suggest process improvements that help the team scale operations efficiently.

Basic Qualifications

- High school diploma or equivalent.
- Communication: Strong written and verbal English communication skills.
- Computer Fluency: Basic proficiency with Microsoft Office (specifically Excel) and the ability to learn new software tools quickly.
- Work Style: Ability to maintain focus during repetitive tasks and work independently without direct supervision.
